

FUTEDU ACADEMY · NUTRITION WORKSHOPS

No-Bake Peanut Butter & Cocoa Energy Balls

| MOMENT | GOAL | DIFFICULTY | TIME | SERVINGS |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pre-Training Snack | Quick energy, portable | Very easy | 15 min + 30 min chill | Makes 12 balls |

INGREDIENTS

| | |
|---|---|
| Pitted dates, packed | 1 cup |
| Rolled oats | 1 cup |
| Peanut butter (or almond butter) | ½ cup |
| Cocoa powder | 2 tbsp |
| Chia seeds | 1 tbsp |
| Salt | 1 pinch |

NUTRITION INFO

| ~135 kcal | ~4 g protein |
|---|---|
| ~17 g carbs | ~6 g fat |

~ estimated values per serving

PREPARATION

1. Mash the dates with a fork directly in the aluminum tray into a rough paste. If they are firm, soak them in warm water for 5-10 min and drain first.
2. In the same tray, add the peanut butter, oats, cocoa powder, chia seeds and salt, and mix with the dates until fully combined.
3. Roll the mix into bite-size balls, as big or small as you like. About 1 tbsp of mix each gives roughly 12 balls.
4. Chill in the fridge for at least 30 min so they firm up.
5. Store in an airtight container in the fridge for up to a week.

NUTRITION NOTE

Dates give a quick natural-sugar energy hit, while the oats add slower-release carbs alongside it — a good combo 1-1.5h before training when you want fast fuel without the crash. Peanut butter and chia add protein and healthy fat to help it hold you over. Values shown are for one ball.